

My husband and I are pleased to have this opportunity express our thoughts about our experience in having Mr. Michael Robinson, and Robinson Construction, build our home.

We met Michael about 6 years ago. He came highly recommended, I might add. After several meetings with him, and also talking with other builders, we decided on Mr. Robinson and his family--we believe it was a package deal (smile). Of course, we had heard all the horror stories regarding builders, so we were on our "P's & Q's."

We made several plan changes, and asked to be present on the first ground breaking—which we were! Michael explained our plans in detail and everything we asked for was in place.

Most people who have built a custom home know that it can take its toll on a good marriage. Not so in our case. Our home took about 7 months to complete. We made numerous visits to the site and asked numerous questions. Michael didn't always have the answer then, but would call later with an answer.

Mr. Robinson takes great pain with his work. His attitude, rapport and honesty are without question. Michael is passionate about what he does, and we believe his work reflects that. He says very little about himself—he allows his work to speak for him. We have always believed that all good and perfect things come from God. Well, we thank God Michael was our builder, and for the opportunity to have met such a wonderful human being.

God bless Michael and his family. We thank you!

Sincerely,
